Choose Success: Invest in Literacy – Resources for the 2019 Federal Election

A diverse group of organizations from across Canada (including Community Literacy of Ontario) have prepared resource material to raise the profile of the importance of adult literacy in the upcoming Federal Election.

Several weeks prior to the 2019 Federal Election, this national group is releasing “Choose Success – Invest in Literacy” and “The State of Literacy in Canada”. These documents are designed to engage and educate Federal Politicians about why literacy matters – and its strong link to the economy, health, poverty, democracy, our communities, and more.

The group has also prepared a set of questions to pose to the federal political parties in advance of the 2019 Federal Election. We are posting them here for you to use with your local candidates, if you wish.

Elections are an opportunity to bring literacy to the public eye and we encourage you to use these resources and to work towards increased and continuing support for literacy. Please use these-resources in your communities and share them on social media using the hashtag #literacy4all and #elxn43.

Together, we can make a difference.

Sincerely yours,

Joanne Kaattari and Jette Cosburn
